COURSE OVERVIEW

This course traces the journey from traditional and Agile practices to DevOps, grounded in DASA DevOps principles. It examines how a DevOps coach drives performance and change, building on foundational and enabling competencies and the different coaching modes a coach can switch between. It then turns to team coaching, covering DevOps organisation and team structures, team development, the Gemba walk, and coaching DevOps teams directly. Finally, it addresses the DevOps transformation journey itself, including the seven transformation steps, value stream analysis and architecture, and automation and tooling.
