In case IPO is not possible in 3 years, the company will guarantee repurchase of exercised shares at a 'notional' market value of the shares, it said.

Koenig's visionary Founder and CEO, Rohit Aggarwal said, "Whatever Koenig is today it is because of the great people working for it. These people have worked selflessly, beyond their call –of-duty and dil se. They loved and took care of the company more than me. For the past many years I was hoping that one day I will be able to pay back at least part of their debt to the company.

With God's grace the day has come to a pass the burden of gratitude that I was carrying is lighter today. The introduction of ESOP provides the launching pad for making the company reach its true potential. It opens up avenues and aspirations for every Koenig-ite".
