Koenig Solutions has been awarded the EC-Council Circle of Excellence Accredited Training Centre (ATC).

The EC-Council is a certification body for Information Security professionals. It is a member-based organisation that certifies individuals in various information security and e-business skills. ATC are awarded for commitment to cyber security training and use of the industry's best practices.

"We are extremely proud of this recognition by the EC-Council. Each year the EC-Council selects only a handful of their training partners who have made contributions to training programs like Certified Ethical Hacker. This reinforces Koenig's stated commitment to provide our students and customers with world class IT training and certification programmes," said Rohit Aggarwal, CEO and Founder, Koenig Solutions.
